The Kansas Promise Scholarship was created by the Kansas Legislature to assist students attending Kansas community colleges and technical colleges having recognized service areas, Washburn Institute of Technology and certain private postsecondary educational institutions and enrolled in specified high wage, high demand, or critical need industry programs in one of these fields of study: (1) Information technology and security, (2) mental and physical health care, (3) advanced manufacturing and building trades, or (4) early childhood education and development. Your educational institution may also have one additional eligible field of study in one of these areas: (1) Agriculture, (2) food and natural resources, (3) education and training, (4) law, public safety, corrections, and security, or (5) distribution and logistics. Talk with your educational institution about high wage, high demand, or critical need programs in any of these other eligible fields of study that may qualify for this scholarship.

This scholarship is a last dollar scholarship, meaning that a student may receive a scholarship in the aggregate amount of tuition, required fees, books and materials minus all other financial aid (grants and scholarships) that does not require repayment. This scholarship may be used for up to a per student lifetime total of 68 credit hours or $20,000, whichever occurs first, in one or more of the eligible programs. Your educational institution will determine your eligibility for the Kansas Promise Scholarship and the amount of your Promise Scholarship award based on the cost of the program you have chosen, information from the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA), which you are required to complete upon application for the Kansas Promise Scholarship, and other financial aid that you may be receiving.
